DISCONTINUATION POLICY FOR THE QXCI

As of November 2004, the QXCI has not been manufactured. As of 1 January 2010, the current version of the software that can be downloaded from the website www.qxsubspace.com is compatible with the QXCI.

Furthermore please also note that the QXCI device does not have a USB port and may only be used with computer that have parallel ports or with the use of a PCMCIA card.

The QXCI has been replaced by the SCIO. The SCIO is available to you at the Current Retail Price and has an update to its software every year, released at our World Conference held in Budapest, Hungary every October. We recommend that you contact one of our World Brokers if you wish to upgrade from the QXCI to the SCIO and also see our Upgrade Policy for more information.

If you have any further questions please contact one of our contracted World Brokers on www.qxsubspace.com under “Representatives”.
