LANGUAGE VERSIONS POLICY

We are currently working on translations of the software into other languages. All language versions of the software are the property of the Budapest Home Office, except for Japanese which is the property of our Japanese Broker, Homoeopathy Japan.

The main version of the software is English and we currently have software available in Spanish and Japanese as well.

We are currently working on language versions in the following languages: German, Chinese, Italian and French – some of these are in production by Third Parties but will be the property of the Budapest Home Office.

A Customer is entitled to two (2) language versions of the software, usually English and their second language of choice.

If you wish to have a third language version of the software it is available from the Budapest Home Office or your Broker at a price of 500 EUR for each additional language.

In the future when a purchase is taking place in a country of which language we have our software in, the customer will receive the relevant version of the software automatically. Additionally, customers can have a special request for other language versions.
